Subject: Product Label

Communication with our clients is critical for success. Thanks to comments from some of you, we discovered it may not be well known that a smaller profile extrusion may be nested into a larger one.

To help avoid future confusion we have begun adding the following label to boxes containing material which may fit this scenario.

The label will be placed on the top of the box at one end.

We thank all of clients who assisted us with this solution and continue to seek other improvements throughout our processes.
